DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mandel et al (U.S. 6,170,009) and Robinson et al (U.S. 6,570,867).

3. As per claims 1,7 & 8 Mandal disclosed a method for monitoring usage of resources allocated to a plurality of nodes of a network (col.1, lines 53-67 & col.2, lines 1-7) comprising the steps of assigning to a node, a parameter indicative of the usage of said resources, reporting to a management station of the network when the usage exceeds a predetermined threshold (col.3, lines 45-67). However initiating poll of resources of at least one other node from the plurality of nodes when said threshold is exceeded.

In the same field of endeavor Robinson disclosed initiating poll of resources of at least one other node from the plurality of nodes when said threshold is exceeded (col.2, lines 60-67, col.3, lines 1-12, col.5, lines 3-12, col.12, lines 26-44 & col.13, lines 46-58).

It would have been obvious to one in the ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have incorporated initiating a poll of resources of at least one node when said threshold is exceeded as disclosed by Robinson in a method of monitoring usage of resources in nodes of a network as disclosed by Mandal in order to improve the management and monitoring of paths and routes available in a network resulting in a more stable and robust network for users.

4. As per claim 4 Mandal-Robinson disclosed the method of claim 1, wherein parameter is indicative of typical usage of the resources in the node (Mandal col.3, lines 45-67).

5. As per claim 5 Mandal-Robinson disclosed the method of claim 1, wherein said parameter is indicative of the rate of a change of usage of the resources in the node (Mandal col.3, lines 45-67).

6. As per claim 6 Mandal-Robinson disclosed the method of claim 1, further including the step of adjusting the usage of the resources in the node (Mandal col.6, lines 1-27).

7. As per claims 9 & 10 Mandal disclosed a technique for managing a global resource of a network in order to reduce the amount of monitoring related traffic, comprising the steps of partitioning the global resource into a plurality of node resources, wherein each node resource is assigned to a separate node of the network, assigning a budget to each said node resource; reporting to a management station of the network when a node exceeds the assigned budget, as determined using local monitoring to the node resource (col.4, lines 52-56 & col.5, lines 31-44). However Mandal did not explicitly disclose initiating a poll of node resource usage by the nodes of the network when the assigned budget is exceeded in at least one node.

In the same field of endeavor Robinson disclosed initiating a poll of node resource usage by the nodes of the network when the assigned budget is exceeded in at least one node (col.2, lines 60-67, col.3, lines 1-12, col.5, lines 3-12, col.12, lines 26-44 & col.13, lines 46-58).

It would have been obvious to one in the ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have incorporated initiating a poll of resources of at least one node when assigned budget is exceeded as disclosed by Robinson in a technique for managing a global resource of a network as disclosed by Mandal in order to improve the management and monitoring of paths and routes available in a network resulting in a more stable and robust network for users.

8. As per claim 11 Mandal-Robinson disclosed the method defined in claim 8 wherein said nodes are selected from the group consisting of routers, switches, bridges and firewall devices (Mandal col.7, lines 29-39).

9. As per claim 12 Mandal-Robinson disclosed the method defined in claim 8 wherein said nodes are selected from the group consisting of servers, hosts, and layer 4-7 switches (Mandal col.2, lines 66-67 & col.3, lines 1-12).
